Timur-Vasile CHIȘ

Professor- University of Oil and Gas Ploiești

Timur-Vasile CHIȘ is an associate member of ASTR Section X, Petroleum, Mining and Geonomics Engineering. He graduated Institute of Petroleum and Gas in Ploiești, Faculty of Well Drilling and Exploitation of Oil and Gas Fields, between 1984-1989, obtaining in 1989 the diploma of Petroleum and Gas Engineer. After graduating from the faculty, he was assigned to the Pipeline Oil Transport Company (ITTC), currently CONPET S.A. where he climbed all possible hierarchical levels (engineer, warehouse manager, regional manager, division manager, office manager, service manager, general manager), working in the production scheduling and ensuring the transport of crude oil and gasoline as well as in the maintenance of the national crude oil transport system. In 2009, he began his academic career at Andrei Șaguna University in Constanța, later working as a head of works, associate professor and professor at Ovidius University in Constanța. Starting with 2023, he works as a professor at the University of Petrol-Gaze in Ploiești. He obtained the title of PhD engineer in the field of Mines, Oil and Gas at the University of Petrol-Gaze in Ploiești in 2005 with the thesis "Research on the behavior of flexible submarine pipelines", under the scientific supervision of Professor Dr. Doc. Teodor Oroveanu (corresponding member of the Romanian Academy). He has completed over 300 scientific research contracts with the economic environment and grants obtained through competitions.He has developed 8 books, 4 university courses, 7 thesis supervisions, 5 book chapters abroad and 4 in the country, published by publishing houses recognized in scientific research.He has also published 41 ISI Web of Science articles and more 200 articles in journals and conferences.