Thierry Grauwels
EU Director- CCSA

International energy market transformation professional, combining new business development, advocacy, board membership and corporate restructuring experience.

Since joining Shell in 1998, Thierry has held several business and market development positions in the European energy market. He focused on the newly liberalised energy markets, negotiated long term gas and LNG supply agreements and developed several positions in LNG regasification and power projects with hydrogen - Carbon Capture and Storage (CCS). He led Shell's advocacy efforts to promote the role of gas in Europe. He unbundled the gas distribution company of Athens according to the EU requirements and framed the ownership restructuring.

Thierry joined Fluxys, Belgian gas TSO and became the CFO of DESFA after the successful partial privatisation of the company by SNAM, Enagas and Fluxys in 2018.

Before being appointed as EU director of the CCS association in Brussels, he headed the BeNeLux business unit of Hinicio. A boutique consultancy firm specialised in Hydrogen and its derivatives.
